One-Year Program

One-Year Program

APPROACH OLD PROBLEMS IN NEW WAYS
WORK MORE EFFECTIVELY WITH PEOPLE
ENHANCE OR EXPLORE YOUR CAREER

THE ONE-YEAR PROGRAM

THE ONE-YEAR PROGRAM INTRODUCES STUDENTS to psychoanalytic theories and techniques in order to develop a deeper understanding of human dynamics. Often this understanding leads to approaching old problems in new ways. Designed for anyone who works with people, the program draws on real life situations, case examples, and experiential learning to highlight psychoanalytic concepts such as unconscious conflict, transference, resistance, and induced feelings – the universal concerns that motivate human behavior.

TWO CONSECUTIVE CLASSES MEET one evening every other week for 10 weeks per semester. Each class is 90 minutes. BGSP faculty members teach all courses.

TUITION & FEES (per semester)

WHAT IS PSYCHOANALYSIS TODAY?

Psychoanalysis is the study of unconscious mental and emotional forces that affect the lives of individuals, groups, and societies. Its clinical practice helps people give up symptoms and behaviors which interfere with leading a meaningful and productive life. Today’s psychoanalysis has expanded the reach of psychoanalytic understanding and techniques. This allows psychoanalysis to be used to improve the lives of a wider range of patients and to contribute to broader work in mental health, education, organizations, and social change.

COURSEWORK

Semester One

An introduction to the basic theories and techniques of psychoanalysis, including regression, transference, resistance, and developmental stages.

The Maturational Process

- How the mind develops and the sense of self evolves
- Understanding psychosexual stages and developmental conflicts

Transference and Resistance

- Understanding the function of resistance
- Using observations for making inferences and interventions
- Recognizing transference and its implications

Semester Two

An exploration of techniques for gaining access to the unconscious using symbolic communication and induced feelings, as well as other steps in the psychoanalytic process.

Analytic Listening

- Listening to the unconscious level of verbal and nonverbal communications.
- Understanding symbolic communication, dreams, slips of the tongue, etc.

Countertransference

- Recognizing countertransference and using induced feelings
- Distinguishing between subjective and objective countertransference
- Resolving countertransference resistances

WHY STUDY AT BGSP?

At BGSP, we use our understanding of unconscious dynamics to help solve problems of emotional suffering and destructive action. In this way, we help individuals, groups, and communities free their creative energy to live satisfying lives in cooperation with others.

BGSP’s accredited graduate degree programs train psychoanalysts as well as mental health and addictions counselors, interdisciplinary scholars, and advocates for social justice. Through our Therapy Center, School Based Counseling internships, and work in the community, students and graduates work to help people directly improve their lives. Visit the School’s website at www.bgsp.edu for more information.
